

三十四日

相良

義武

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a list or account. The text is written on a strip of aged paper and includes several lines of characters, possibly representing names or items. The script is dense and difficult to decipher without a key.

1549